

We are creating a future
where we can all take part.

Nepos believes every generation deserves to use the Internet with full confidence in their ability. Therefore, we have embarked on a quest of optimizing, transforming and curating the technological revolution for the generation 65+. We are building the gateway between the elderly and the digital world.

Let's take the chance to really make a difference in the lives of an entire generation.

You're exactly what we're looking for. Social Media Working Student (f/m/x)

As our Social Media Working Student, you will take responsibility to create high-quality content for our social media platforms and assure consistent communication through all channels. You are motivated to solve problems independently and fuel our social media channels with your spark.

What you'll do

- › Research exciting topics for the expansion of our social media activities
- › Draft content, tailored for multiple channels and target groups
- › Support the coordination and editorial planning of our social media channels
- › Manage the community in cooperation with the customer care team

What you pack

- › You are an enrolled student in communications, economics, journalism or a similar subject
- › Very high motivation to create something awesome and the strong discipline to carry it out
- › Fluency in German, both written and spoken, and very good language skills in English
- › Experience in managing a social media community or blogging is a plus

What we offer

At Nepos you can develop your talents in an inspiring startup working environment with the freedom to reach your highest potential. Meet a passionate team who genuinely cares about the customer and the team environment. You are invited to think differently – shape the future of work for the better. Additionally, we offer you flexible working hours and home office options – we trust you in deciding when you can do the best work of your life!

This is your chance to be part of product development history. When can you start?
